Prompt: Does this clause bind the supplier ? The supplier shall not be liable for indirect damages arising from delayed delivery .

Generated: Yes, that clause does bind the supplier. It's a standard clause designed to protect the supplier from liability for losses resulting from events outside their direct control. Here's a breakdown of what it means:  "Shall not be liable..." This is the core of the clause – the supplier is not responsible for any losses. * "...for indirect damages..." This is crucial. It means the supplier isn't responsible for losses that result from the delayed delivery, even if those losses are caused by factors beyond the supplier's control (e.g., a transportation issue, a natural disaster, a third-party's negligence). Important Considerations: * "Indirect damages" is a key term. It's generally understood to include things like: * Loss*
